MISSION

At TTI, we seek to enhance the quality of life of those we serve through an array of clinical best practices that inspire healthy living, empowerment, and recovery while promoting the attainment of personal goals and independence.

Independent Facilitation

Independent Facilitation

WHAT IS INDEPENDENT FACILITATION?

Independent Facilitation is part of Person-Centered Planning (PCP), which is the process consumers use to develop their plans of service. Consumers are involved in all aspects of their care, and given the choice of whom they want to participate in their PCP process. A consumer has the right to choose an Independent Facilitator to help develop his/her plan of service and help run PCP meetings.

An Independent Facilitator is a person outside the CMH system. His or her job is to lead a discussion of the consumer's hopes and dreams and determine what CMH and the community can do to help that individual reach those goals.

WHAT AN INDEPENDENT FACILITATOR DOES:

- Helps the consumer identify dreams and goals
- Assists in arranging PCP meetings
- Keeps the meeting focused on the consumer
- Makes sure the consumer is both heard and understood
- Has a knowledge of a variety of supports (natural, community and system)

WHAT AN INDEPENDENT FACILITATOR DOES NOT DO:

- Decide what will be paid for in the consumer's plan
- Authorize the consumer's services and supports
- Benefit from the outcome of the consumer's plan

WHO CAN BE THE CONSUMER'S INDEPENDENT FACILITATOR?

- The consumer
- Someone the consumer trusts
- Someone who has been trained as an Independent Facilitator
- A person identified by the consumer's supports coordinator or case manager as someone who is formally trained and has experience in completing plans that have been successfully implemented

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

Consumers of developmental disabilities and mental health services have the right to the Person Centered Planning process. They also have the right to choose their own Independent Facilitator.

This service is not available to consumers receiving short-term outpatient, medication only or substance abuse services.

There is no extra cost to the consumer for having an independent facilitator.

HOW CONSUMERS WORK WITH AN INDEPENDENT FACILITATOR

An Independent Facilitator is NEUTRAL. He or she will walk a consumer through the process, but they do not promote any particular viewpoint.

Independent Facilitators have received special training so that they can help the consumer understand his/her choices. The Independent Facilitator will work with the consumer, case manager or supports coordinator, and any other individuals that the consumer would like to be involved.

The facilitator coordinates the planning process and assures that the plan is clear to all planning participants and is ready for implementation.

CHARACTERISTICS OF AN INDEPENDENT FACILITATOR

- A neutral third party
- A guide for the group
- A guide of the process
- A bridge between issues and options
- A mirror to participants' interests
- Explains and guides the process
- Identifies the issues
- Creates a respectful environment
- Promotes a collaborative process
- Focuses discussion and generates movement
- Listens/reflects/reframes/redirects
- Ensures everyone is heard
